

I fully support the right of satellite radio operators to provide any decent, local content that will benefit the listening public. I fail to understand why local radio broadcasters chose to use their money and political connections to stifle competition rather than competing on a level playing field in the market place.

I strongly urge the FCC and the federal government to continue to allow companies such as XM radio to provide quality local content programming such as weather and traffic reports that greatly benefit their subscribers.